

CHC 2D Canadian History Since World War I (Academic)

Mr. Powers Room 114

OVERVIEW:

This course explores social, economic, and political developments and events and their impact on the lives of different individuals, groups, and communities, including First Nations, Métis, and Inuit individuals and communities, in Canada since 1914. Students will examine the role of conflict and cooperation in Canadian society, Canada's evolving role within the global community, and the impact of various individuals, organizations, and events on identities, citizenship, and heritage in Canada. Students will develop an understanding of some of the political developments and government policies that have had a lasting impact on First Nations, Métis, and Inuit individuals and communities. They will develop their ability to apply the concepts of historical thinking and the historical inquiry process, including the interpretation and analysis of evidence, when investigating key issues and events in Canadian history since 1914.

REQUIRED MATERIALS:

It is recommended that all students have the required learning materials (such as a three ring binder, lined paper, pens, pencils, and erasers) to ensure student success. Students are welcome to bring their own tablet, laptop or other Wifi compatible devices, but are responsible for their safety and storage while on school property. Students are responsible for all of their personal property and may use these devices to enhance learning, at the teacher's discretion.

Please see Student Planner for policies on punctuality, absenteeism, examinations, academic fraud, and other student responsibilities.

The "Big Ideas":

The concepts of historical thinking are:

- Historical significance
- Cause and consequence
- Continuity and change
- Historical perspective

These concepts underpin thinking and learning in all history courses in the Canadian and world studies program. At least one concept of historical thinking is identified as the focus for each overall expectation in strands B–E of these courses.

COMMUNICATION: The staff at Osgoode Township High School is committed to the success of all students.
